

We are a young and fast growing startup from Cologne, Germany. We develop a software platform for the digitalization of energy grids. For our team in Cologne we are looking for a

Software engineer (m/f)

Your tasks

- Development of our data-intensive distributed software system in the programming language Python
- Conception and implementation of new features for our software Intelligent Grid Platform
- Working in a team focused on agile development, automation and testing

Your skills and expertise

- University degree in computer science or comparable education
- Very good Python knowledge including the associated open source system
- Knowledge of data bases is an advantage (PostgreSQL, MongoDB)
- Ideally, experience with SCRUM and / or other agile development methods
- Experience in service-oriented architecture
- Knowledge of TDD, SOLID Principles and CleanCode

What we are offering

- A very good salary for a challenging and independent work
- The opportunity to work for a tech start-up shaping the energy transition
- Flexible working hours, free drinks and a young team with a high motivation

Are you interested? Please send us your application to jobs@envelio.de